

The Love of God Changes People

No One Should Ever Have to be Told to Love God
Matthew 22:34-40

Being _____ doesn't mean you're _____ with God.

Matthew 22:34-36

_____ opposing groups are represented in this text.

The _____ and the _____:

Acts 23:8

The _____ also known as _____ were mostly Pharisees:

Luke 11:45-46

Jesus had _____ the Sadducees.

There is a hint of _____ in this statement.

The same word is used in:

1 Timothy 5:17-18

1 Corinthians 9:9

The lawyer tests Jesus with the _____ of the _____.

Test: try to _____, attempt to catch in a _____

James Swanson, Dictionary of Biblical Languages With Semantic Domains: Greek (New Testament), electronic ed. (Oak Harbor: Logos Research Systems, Inc., 1997).

Matthew 16:1; 19:3

The lawyers sought to divide the law into _____ and the _____ commands.

The lawyer really asked: "What _____ of a _____ does it have to be to be a great one?"

The command wasn't a reference to the _____ but to the traditions in the _____ Torah.

Jesus quoted the _____ to the lawyer.

Matthew 22:37

The lawyer stands that day as the _____ of Israel.

"You" and "your" are both in the _____ tense.

Jesus' _____ were not what those who _____ him thought they would be.

Matthew 22:15-22

Jesus was _____ in his answer.

Matthew 22:38

He corrected the lawyer and his _____.

The great and first commandment was not one of the _____ laws nor was it one of the _____ Commandments.

Jesus called the Shema the _____ and _____ commandment.

Jesus chose the one passage which every Jewish man had _____ and _____ twice daily.

Jesus inextricably links loving _____ with loving _____.

Matthew 22:39

Jesus is _____ in his teaching in _____ to the religious leaders of the day.

Matthew 5:17

Loving others is the focus, based upon our own _____ interest.

We are commanded to _____ self not _____ it.

Matthew 16:24

Our love for God is _____ without a _____ love for others.

Matthew 19:16-22

This man wanted to know what the greatest command was so that he could do it and get his _____ to _____.

The _____ of the Decalogue is loving God and loving others.

Matthew 22:40

The Law and the prophets _____ on this _____.

Matthew 7:12

The _____ of salvation is manifest in loving God through _____ our _____.

1 John 4:20-21; 3:16-17; Ephesians 5:1-2

Application:

Based upon my love for my _____, I would say that my love for _____ is _____.

I will commit to _____ and _____, asking God to give me a heart that loves others like God loves me
