

Jesus, the Bread of Life
John 6:35, 48

Everyone lives in conflict between the _____ and the _____.

Every God-given desire in mankind is meant to point to a _____.

Because of the _____, sinners make these desires an end in themselves, fulfilling these desires _____.

Jesus tested the _____ of His disciples by asking a question meant to reveal the heart.
John 6:5-6

Phillip's answer _____ the _____ discussed in the rest of this text.
John 6:7

Though the crowd and the disciples were the recipients of Jesus' miracles, their _____ remained _____.
John 6:2, 14-15,

Having miraculously _____ the crowd, _____ on water, and _____ the boat to the opposite shore, Jesus is confronted by the masses once again.
John 6:24-25

Jesus now draws a _____ between the flesh and the spirit, confronting the hard hearts of those listening to Him.

The crowd only followed Jesus because of an _____ to please their flesh.
John 6:26

Jesus brings the conflict to the forefront by announcing that the main desire of life should be to be _____ in _____.

John 6:27

The flesh values too highly life's _____.

John 6:31, 34

This is a reminder of the _____ at the _____ in John 4:15.

The _____ reality must come to be of more value than anything _____ has to offer.

John 6:32-33

The _____, _____ man grumbles against the heavenly realities.

John 6:35, 41-42

True _____ is found in _____ alone.

His flesh is true flesh which was given _____ for the _____ of lost sinners.

John 6:51

His blood is true drink which was _____ out as a _____ to God and must be received by faith.

John 6:52-56

Stop _____ after (_____ for) that which will never fully satisfy and run after Christ.

John 6:27-29

Only _____ in Christ, the bread of heaven, can _____ you and _____ you.

John 6:66-68