Sermon Quotes

“When God applies the outward call, the gospel message, to the heart thereby producing the effectual call, the person who experiences this basic change is introduced into the realm of freedom, the sphere of grateful and spontaneous living to the glory of his marvelous Benefactor and is invited to roam about freely in this new country, delighting in its treasures and making full use of its opportunities”- William Henricksen, NT Commentary: Galatians, p 210.

“Whenever Christ indwells the hearts of believers, He always begins to renew them in the way of obedience to His law. In the fullness of His office as mediator, Christ is not only a priest, whose atoning sacrifice and continual intercession assure believers of their acceptance with God, but also a king, who rules in the hearts of His people by His Spirit and Word.”
